

MDI Awarded Embassy Compound Security Program

San Antonio, Texas, USA, 7 October 2009

MDI is pleased to announce that it has been awarded a prestigious security program in Doha, Qatar, with a value of over $2,000,000 (two million dollars). The scope of work includes the design and implementation of a total perimeter, vehicle and pedestrian security, explosives and weapons screening and surveillance program for the over two kilometer blast resistant walled compound, securing 32 nation's embassies, as well as the integration of certain aspects of the security systems of the individual embassies.

The Middle East, with Qatar at the fore, has initiated this embassy consolidation model, as the safest method to protect the included members and to, among other quality of life issues, safeguard their status as safe business environments.

"We have focused our efforts in Qatar on delivering solutions to such security conscious clients," exclaimed Robert Schorr, MDI's Director of Global Sales. "This is an ideal program scope for the resurgent MDI, coming on the heels of our long marketing efforts and the successes of several other security system implementations," stated Swaraj Bontula, MDI's Chief Executive Officer.

"With the design approval now behind us, we anticipate the equipment delivery and implementation efforts to run through the middle of next year," stated Stephen Parker, MDI's Senior Security Specialist.

"Our efforts are already underway to provide solutions for the 31 individual embassies remaining to be built," concluded Rob.

Despite the global downturn, Qatar remained one of the few countries on track to produce positive economic growth this year.
